

Good Conduct - The Michael New Story

"I, Michael G. New, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; and that I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to regulations and the Uniform Code of Military Justice, so help me God."

There is only one Oath Michael New pledged. It was/is to support and defend the Constitution of the United States, and to obey the orders of the President and officers appointed over him, as long as they are consistent with the Uniform Code of Military Justice, which has included the Constitution since the early 1950's.

On October 10, 1995, the 1/15 Battalion of the 3rd infantry Division of the U.S. Army came to attention at 0900 in Schweinfurt, Germany. All but one of the 550 soldiers were wearing a sky-blue baseball-style cap with a United Nations insignia on the front. One was wearing the olive-drab flat cap that is authorized to be worn with the Battle Dress Uniform. With this simple act of disobeying a direct order, Spc. 4 Michael New set the stage for a legal battle that has profound implications for the future of American soldiers into service of the United Nations without the Constitutional permission of Congress.

What prompted Michael New to take on the United States Army, the Department of Defense, and the President of the United States? Spin artists of the New World Order have attempted to paint this model soldier and unobtrusive young man as a troublemaker, a rebel, and an extremist. Wherein lies the truth? With an honest examination of the facts, the video "Good Conduct" reveals a startling and definitive conclusion: that Michael New is hindering the advancement of a global agenda. This is the story they don't want you to hear.
